

The Superyacht Resource for Technical System Components & Support

When it comes to hardware and technical components and technical system support, Crest Source is the complete service provider for all onboard technical needs. From spares to service and ongoing system support contracts to troubleshooting and system surveys, Crest Source provides owners and crew with the technical resources they need to ensure smooth and continuous operation of onboard hardware and systems.

Working with all of the leading brands that are used industry wide, as well as some of the more exclusive and obscure, Crest Source has experience not only of cutting edge technology but also a vast knowledge of products that may have been installed many years ago. From sourcing replacements or spare parts to arranging repair works and from simple electrical or system components to hardware upgrades, we ensure that you have all of the correct and working components to keep downtime to a minimum.

System Components

Crest Source is available to all yachts, with or without a support contract, and we ship components worldwide. Where possible, we will work with local suppliers to ensure your goods are shipped to you as quickly as possible and with minimum customs and handling issues. We work with, and are dealers for, a large number of leading brands including:
